Adam is an Associate Attorney with Stanton | Barton LLC. He focuses his practice on transportation litigation and products liability. He also has experience in tort and premises liability. He represents clients throughout all stages of litigation, including case evaluation, discovery, motion practice, and trial preparation. He has experience drafting pleadings and dispositive motions, conducting legal research, managing discovery, and assisting with depositions, mediations, and trial. Before joining Stanton Barton, Adam practiced at another firm where he developed a strong foundation in litigation and client advocacy.

Adam earned his Juris Doctor from the University of Missouri. He served as the Lead Articles Editor on the Journal of Dispute Resolution. He received his undergraduate degree in Classical Studies from Truman State University, graduating summa cum laude.

He is admitted to practice in Missouri, Illinois, Kansas and the United States District Court for the Central District of Illinois, Southern District of Illinois, Eastern District of Missouri, Western District of Missouri, and the District of Kansas. He is a member of the Missouri Bar Association, Illinois Bar Association, and the Bar Association of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Outside of the office, Adam enjoys watching sports, exploring St. Louis, and spending time with family, friends, and his partner and their two cats.
